A journey of millions of miles start with one step, that's how the journey of pursuing my education in China started. A home far from home, with time I realized that despite being far from my family, I had closer people around me who helped me to settle down and have the feeling of being home. To the International College, you have been exceptional and professional in your work. You created an environment for each one of us to thrive and have good experience of China and its culture. During the pandemic, you prioritized the safety of students by providing the essential services and some necessities like protective materials. You organized different activities to support students appreciate the Chinese society and at the same time have an opportunity to learn. The most memorable moment for me is the time you provided an opportunity to students to attend the 2022 Beijing Winter Olympics opening and closing ceremonies as spectators. Being part of the group not just once but three times, I personally hold that moment deep inside my heart and I will always cherish that.

Graduation not only can bring up feelings of excitement, pride, and anticipation, but also those of loss, discouragement, and fear. Parting ways with close friends that we might never see again is a sad thing that is hard to accept. As we continue in this journey of life, we carry the asset of excellence with us to change the world.

See you, BFU!

I am Saleem Uddin from Pakistan. I obtained my Ph.D. degree in Forest Tree Genetics & Breeding under the Chinese Government Scholarship (College of Biological Sciences & Technologies, Beijing Forestry University China). My Ph.D. project focused on molecular studies of adventitious root formation. Previously I am holding an M.Sc. (Hons.) and B.Sc. (Hons.) degrees in Plant Breeding & Genetics from The University of PMAS-Arid Agriculture, Rawalpindi, Pakistan. My specific field of interest is plant molecular biology. Additionally, from 2018 to 2022, I have worked as a Youth ambassador in the Chinese communist party Youth wing to promote different sectors, such as actively involved in promoting the Beijing Winter Olympics 2022.

I offer my heartiest thanks from the deepest core of my heart to “The Chinese Government” and “China Scholarship Council,” who created the opportunity for me to come over here and supported my stay, study, and research here to explore my talent and sharpen my skills to become a more fruitful researcher. I also offer gratitude to the kind and caring administration of “Beijing Forestry University” and “The international student office” for providing me learning environment and a well-equipped platform to explore my abilities. Finally, I would love to express my deep love for “Chinese people” for their welcoming and supportive attitude.

Last but not least, I feel highly privileged to express my heartiest gratitude to my worthy supervisor Prof. Dr. Li Yun, for his keen personal interest, dynamic supervision, immense cooperation, valuable suggestions, unfailing patience, and thought-provoking discussion during the study.

See you, BFU!

Work after graduation: I love China and nothing would be better than working in this amazing country I hope I can get a chance to work here and employ all what I learned in my unv in real practice.

Everyone has his or her own special decision in his or her life, and it changes people's lives sometimes. For me, "To live in China or not, that was my question." I decided to go to China to study my master degree, and I never knew that it would change my life.

The first time I was in China, I could not understand Chinese, and I missed my family so much. I had a hard time getting used to a new life in a different country, but I learned how to be independent, how to be responsible, and how to persevere. For example, I found that I could do many things without my parents, and I could make my own decisions in life. It helped me a lot to be independent even though it was very hard at first. I not only learned about independence, but also discovered my dream in China. Since I set goals for my life and I had a dream, I worked hard to earn good grades.

The most unforgettable thing in China is the memory with friends. We helped each other and discussed our work. We were very different in cultures, traditions, and interests, but we became good friends and still keep in touch. I heard that Chinese people were very devoted before I went to China, and my friends proved that it was true.

Few weeks now before graduation, no word can be enough to express my happiness, it's definitely the most important day in anybody's life. I waited for this amazing day for years to reach my dream and get my master degree in China. For most people, graduation is a memorable day. It is hard for me to forget it even after a hundred years. I'm waiting for this graduation day; I will smile the whole day knowing that I had made my family proud of me. I still remember my first day coming to the university, nervous on how I'm gonna pass Chinese exams or knowing the language but after all these years, here I'm now, few weeks before graduation, I want to write more and express my feeling more but no matter what I write or say will never be enough to express my gratitude and my love to this country.

Work after graduation: Research Academic Studies

I am feeling great and honored to graduate from the BJFU one of the highly prestigious University in Forestry education in China. The last three years have been challenging, but now we are here to celebrate our achievements, victories, and the journey we have all taken to our future destinations. China's diverse cultural norms and values, nurturing care and hospitality and the fact that Nepal and China being the neighboring countries share such historical, cultural and natural similarities that I did not feel detached from my homeland during my stay. Upon evaluating all these positive aspects, I concluded that studying at BJFU was the best choice that I would have made in my academic career.

During my Masters Study in Beijing Forestry University, I learned the technical Remote sensing and GIS technologies. I learned about the Chinese culture and learned Chinese language. I used to participate in every extra curriculum activities and games conducted in university. I happily spent my time studying along with my Chinese friends. I loved this beautiful country and fell in love with the beauty. I have fairly learned Chinese language while studying masters in Beijing. After the completion of a course in China, I plan to continue my professional career soon in research and study on Natural Resource management. I am confident that my education and experience has provided me with valuable insights into the technical and social aspects needed in this field.

Last but not the least, I want to sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Jinghui Meng, PhD, for constantly guiding and supporting me throughout my academic journey. I'd also like to thank the faculty members and all Professors for their help in mastering valuable skills and knowledge.

I'm also grateful our Chinese language instructor, for constantly encouraging us to develop our Chinese language abilities and for being so pleasant to us. ISC has been a tremendous help and support to me. I'd also like to express my gratitude to CSC for funding the scholarship and allowing me to study in China. I am really thankful to my friends and families in China and in my home country. I am grateful to my Chinese and international friends for their never-ending love and support. I wish them the best of luck and a brighter future.

I felt really bittersweet. It was great to be done with this chapter in my life, it was great to be done with graduation degree, it was great to be able to move on to the next part of my life but it was also difficult to let go of the life I had so gotten used to, I liked being a big fish in a small pond and now again it meant being a small fish in a large pond. I was going to have to start all over, I would be the newbie in my work setting I wouldn't really know anyone, no one would really know me I would be awkward.

I mean I really do miss Beijing Forestry University from time to time but I am also really glad that I finished because. So, I don't know, perhaps it is different for everybody when they finish school but it was like a mix of emotions. I had so gotten used to waking up and going to Lab, seeing my friends and preparing myself for graduation and now that I have to prepare myself for real life and a job and other responsibilities it is difficult.

My heartfelt gratitude goes to the professors and staff of the Forestry College, School, and International Student Office for their guidance and support throughout our three-year studies at BFU.

I'd like to express my heartfelt gratitude to my hardworking Supervisor Professor Dr Xiao Huijie for his constant advice, suggestions, encouragement, and guidance during my time at Beijing Forestry University.

Congratulations to all of us once again, and I wish us the best of luck in our future endeavors. Let us be good ambassadors for Beijing Forestry University wherever we go. Furthermore, it is an honor for me to serve as a research student for such a wonderful country. I will make every attempt to advance my profession by employing Beijing Forestry University China's great services.

I remember very well when I arrived in China, I was eager to get to know my university more closely, and when I entered it, it was and still is beautiful in all dimensions. Beijing Forestry University offered to open support for me to complete my dreams with a solid degree I got from the strongest university in China belongs to the Department of Landscape Architecture Yes, it has been three years and I have been away from my family and environment, but despite the past three years, I have not felt alienated from my country because There is love and interest from my university, in terms of personal or educational level and also my Chinese or international friends I met in Beijing forestry University until we became one family, it is not good to be away from many Chinese and international friends because we have exchanged our culture, language, happiness, sadness and diverse attitude together over the course of the past three years. Even if we live in different parts of the world, our true friendship will last forever and graduation is known to be a unique experience that makes you feel excited, sad and everything in between.

Moreover, graduation is the day when all students reap the fruits that professors and teachers have grown for years. These fruits can play a major role in changing the lives of individuals and societies. In general, I came today to raise my hat and announce my graduation happily with my colleagues, professors and supervisors and thank you, and I really do not have the words to describe my gratitude, appreciation and love for them, and at the end of my speech I wish all friends and colleagues success in the future life, and today we close the page and open a new page with lines of light, hopes and dreams We are still striving to achieve it. See you, BFU!

Work after graduation: I am trying to find to a research or academic related activities both in China and Pakistan.

I consider myself very lucky and blessed to see my journey moving towards completion at BJFU. Indeed, BJFU proved to be a learning paradise for me. I might not be the outstanding student of our university, but I am lucky enough to be the part of this outstanding university. I feel myself one of the luckiest people who got the opportunity and become part of Beijing Forestry University as a PhD scholar under the Chinese Government Scholarship. It's a real learning paradise for me. Since I landed in China, I have experienced the best days of my life. As I got the chance to observe and get blend with the multicultural people coming from all over the Globe. People from different countries in general and chines in specific are very kind, polite and friendly. Our university environment is very good.

First, I would like to begin with my first experience here in China. It was 9th of September 2017 when I landed on Beijing Airport. Everything there was completely new for me. I found myself in a totally different environment. And because of all that newness I was a bit worried too. I was worried about so many things, but language was at the top of the list. But when I arrived at the campus and meet with the staff of international student office and then my Chinese Language teachers, all my worries vanished.

First of all, I would like to thank my supervisor, family and friends who stand beside me in this journey.

Finally, my sincere appreciation also goes to Beijing Forestry University (BFU). It has been my second home, and it is really hard to talk about a journey of three and half years of memories in a short time. It is surely the best period in the life of anyone. The golden era and best time span where a lot of memories are built and experience are gained.

Dear BFU, I wish I wouldn't say "goodbye to you", but sometimes when time comes, we have to hold our heads up high not cry and say "goodbye". Thank you BFU for making my life happy. I'm very glad to have the opportunity to study here in BFU.

I feel myself very lucky because I am one of those students who will graduate this year and it's really a great achievement for me to have a Ph.D. degree from a well reputed university (BFU) of China and world. I have an excellent opportunity to share the knowledge in forestry with other researchers from various universities in China (UCAS, BNU, CAU, and NFU) and Russia (Ural State Forest Engineering University, Faculty of Forestry, Yekaterinburg, Russia). I have been an energetic, active person in both studies and extra activities. I am a good player of badminton, and also I am selected officially as a member of the ISA sports department of BFU. I have always obeyed laws and regulations. The most beautiful and prominent thing in my personality is friendly to behave. I am courteous and polite. Continuously Pursue excellence as a researcher. On the way of this research, I learned to pass the Ph.D. degree and learn to behave more moral principles, ethics, patient, and learning to accept others. The above statement summarized my doctoral period in BFU. I am very thankful to my supervisor, Beijing Government Belt and Road Scholarship and BFU, for providing me learning opportunities.

Today, I wanted to reflect on some of my emotions about graduation. The first emotion I feel is sadness. Going to school in such an exciting environment gives you the potential to build an exciting and enriching life. I'm sad to leave behind all the good things I built at Beijing Forestry University. I love living in Beijing, and I'll be sad to no longer walk through my favorite neighborhood every day. I'll also be sad not to be studying with the incredible professors Dr. Zhang Kebin and Dr. Wang Yanhui, who made my time at Beijing Forestry University and the Chinese Academy of Forestry. I also feel like graduation is a bit anti-climactic this year. With the COVID-19 pandemic, graduation is going to feel very different this year. It feels weird that finishing the last class of my Ph.D. degree will entail logging off a Zoom meeting and that I won't be able to hug my friends or walk home from campus one last time. I'm trying to focus on all the positive things that I can, though, like my entire family watched my graduation over Zoom and could successfully get through such a challenging year.

Finally, graduating feels exhilarating. Even though I'm sad to leave all the decent memories I created during my Ph.D., I know I'll carry these things into the next chapter of my life. In Beijing, I gained so much confidence and knowledge, and I made friends with whom I know I'll keep in touch no matter where I go. I also wanted to let you know that this is my final assignment with Beijing Forestry University! But I am still hopeful that I will be able to continue my Postdoc in China, particularly at Beijing Forestry University. I've enjoyed my four years of writing for this blog because it has provided me with an outlet to express my emotions and reflect on my life.

I am Rashid from India, a Master's degree holder in Ecology and Nature Conservation from Beijing Forestry University. My research focuses on different aspects of endangered species conservation, my research work is mainly based on conservation of snow leopard (Panthera uncia) and I am a member of "Snow Leopard Network". During my master's degree I worked on effect of various "Environmental factors" on the distribution of snow leopard by using MaxEnt and Geneious in Yanchiwan National Nature Reserve, Gansu, China. I also took various genetic approach towards the conservation of snow leopard, which mainly covers a specific group of gene called as Major Histocompatibility Complex (MHC). In addition to snow leopard, lichens of Yanchiwan National Nature Reserve are also a topic of my interest.

Prior to starting my masters, I was working on the topic of Ethnobiology and my research area covered different states of India such as Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, etc. and also some African countries like Tanzania, Comoros, and Zambia etc.

I also wrote related research articles some of which already got published and on some still I am working. I wish to continue my research on MHC during my Ph.D. degree. I am a BFUer now and I am very thankful to BFU.

During holidays I love to go out for photography, especially for Wildlife photography, and writing magazine & newspaper articles and reading books are also my hobbies.

I dedicate my graduation;

To whom I hope to please him always, to my honor and pride, to whom waited in patience for the fruits of his cultivation (My dear father).

To that voice when I hear it reassures, my heart, my calms, my soul,... To the one who poured her tears for days and nights to see the smile drawn on our faces,... To the one who vowed her life for us so that she forgot herself,... To the one who touched my steps with her consent,... To the light of my eyes and the light My life (my loving mother).

To me whose blood is in my veins,...To whom, I owe so much and who leaned on them like mighty mountains (my precious brothers).

To all the friends with whom I have good days, to those whom I love to live with (my friends and loved ones).

Three year of its good moments, bad attitudes, strong hardworking, large tired, cute friends, BFU will continue in long memory and with heart movements.

The world is learning from China, fighting to be international student in China.

Finally, I will say that we have reached here. if I err, it is from myself.

Graduated "Qahtan Al-Shami".

See you, BFU!

I have been there in BFU for one year physically and two years virtually. The study environment of BFU was very good. Teachers were very cooperative. Overall, from classroom to library very thing was very appreciable. Moreover, the food of Beijing was very delicious. I enjoyed visiting different places in Beijing. Great wall tour was very memorable. Now it's time to say goodbye to BFU.

See you, BFU!

feelings about graduation:

We have done it, all the hard works finally paid off and we are all ready to take the next big step in life. I am honoured to reflect on our collective journey in this school. The past three years certainly been tough, but now we are here to celebrate our achievements, our victories and the journey on which we have all embarked toward our future destinations.

First, I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to my supervisor Professor Dr. Hesong Wang for his constantly guiding me and support me in my academic journey. I also express my gratitude to the faculty members and all Professors for their kind help in mastering valuable skills and knowledge. I am also very grateful to our Chinese language teacher Huang Yue for continuously supporting us in our Chinese language skill and being very kind to us. I am grateful to ISC for all the help and support. I would also like to thank CSC for funding the scholarship and given me the opportunity to study in China. I am very grateful to my parents, my husband and son for their prayers, caring and mental support. I am grateful to my Chinese and international friends for their very invaluable support and love. I wish them success and better life. I am glad that I have earned degree from BFU, China. China is a beautiful country. During my master degree, I mesmerized by Chinese culture. Chinese music and Chinese food. I wish I could visit China again. It's time to say good bye, and every bye have new beginning...

I am on the seventh heaven on this ecstatic event of my graduation. I have paucity of words to share my deep feelings about such a wonderful time which I have spent over there. My three years stay at Beijing Forestry University, China has inculcated in me a plethora of professional skills. The skills which are needed to excel in every walk of life. The graduation from BFU has provided me a bunch of avenues regarding job opportunities not only in my country but also worldwide. On this occasion, I pay intense salutations to my worthy supervisor Prof. Jianzhi Niu (牛健植) whose support enabled me to go through this tedious journey. The journey which has seen a myriad of ups and downs due to prevalence of Covid19 pandemic. In such difficult times of lockdowns and travel restrictions, BFU always supported me to fulfill all the requirements for the completion of my master's degree in Soil and Water Conservation.

I am also thankful to International Students College (ISC, BFU) for arranging tours to Great Wall of China and conducting sports competitions for the students' well-being. In a nutshell, I learned and groomed a lot during my stay at BFU, China. I am proud of being an alumnus of Beijing Forestry University, China.

Cheers,

Muhammad Haris (哈里斯)

This journey was full of joy, happiness as well as challenges, especially due to COVID-19 we have to complete most of the part of our degree by virtual means of communication. But during the whole process the collaboration of International Student office make this way much easier than our expectations. I spent about five months in Beijing at the start of my degree. Those were the most memorable days in my life due to love, care and cooperation of Chinese colleagues. Lab colleagues were so cooperative, teachers were so kind and other staff were very friendly, due to all these things this was the best time of my life which I ever spent.

Thanks to BFU

I would also like to sincerely thank my university, Beijing Forestry University and express my deepest gratitude towards for making my time there as a student very memorable. My lecturers have shown me nothing but respect and patience.

I would like to especially thank my supervisor, prof Zeng Hongli, for guiding me to attain this high level of knowledge. From her I learned how to strive and be innovative, and to not give up. I will not forget her and I will continue to thank her.

I also owe my deepest gratitude to my parents and family, whose prayers were like a shadow that accompanied me throughout my studies. I wish they would be able witness this day in person so that I can see the smiles and joy on their faces, and for us to share these precious moments that fill joy in our hearts.

We have turned over a page of our lives - a page in which seriousness and diligence were always our companions. This is the moment in which we bid farewell to study and fatigue. I have the utmost respect to the lecturers of Beijing Forestry University for helping us carry our dreams and help to achieve them. The graduation day which we have been waiting for so long, has finally arrived and we stand here today, boasting ourselves with different qualifications. We are with great confidence that we will continue the journey of education, and graduation will not be the end of our pursuit of education.

I would also like to congratulate my fellow graduates whom we have gone down this road together. It was not easy but we have finally made it!

Last but not least, I cannot forget the wonderful efforts of the International Student Office who provided us with several opportunities to participate in trips such as visiting the Great Wall of China, the Summer Palace and by attending the opening and closing ceremonies of the Beijing 2022 Winter Olympics. These are memories I will forever cherish.

The journey is slowly coming to an end. After 3 years of hard work, I am getting closer to graduate. Mixed emotions are running through me. I feel worn out because of the effort that I had to make in a consistent way to be excellent in every step of my academic journey, especially during the pandemic. I feel very proud of myself for the reason that I overcame the challenges and difficulties that I had to face through my stay in China. This has made me more confident and made me believe that I will achieve my goals in the future. Lastly, I feel very grateful for this opportunity. It made me learn a lot about the Chinese culture and the way of living here. This will definitely be an experience to remember.

Sincere thanks to my supervisor for her guidance, effort and encouragement, as well as my deepest appreciation to the international college for the assistance, consideration and support.

I am thankful for everything, thank you BFU!

See you BFU! Soon, we have to part ways. On the way back, however, I felt something I have never felt before. It seemed like a fusion of feelings, different emotions attacking all at once. The feeling grew when I got ready for bed that night. I will miss my friends, my mentors, and my school. Things will never be the same again, and that part of my life is done and over. I looked back and realized so much. I was hard those schooling days as it happened. It was hard waking up early, I hated sorting through my homework trying to finish them in one night. I hated all the times I went through finals week and what really happens during it, and all the instant ramen I had to eat - I wished I had learned more college dorm meals recipes. But even though I have been through one of the most challenging times of my life, I realized that I will miss all of that. I will never get those days back again, and although the thought is sad, I have my entire life facing me now. It is now time to make my mark in the world.

Graduation is one of those wonderful days we all can't wait, and we're all working hard to prepare. What to do and how to close a page and open a new page to enter a new stage of education, whether in college or university, learn from life, face and merge with real life, let's get started. Graduation day is always the greatest reward for hard work and constant effort in education. It also represents a new starting point, it helps us remember that we can conquer the past, we will certainly conquer the future, there is no difficulty, we have a new goal, and we will strive to achieve it. This is my degree. The joy of the end of a phase, a new challenge full of effort and fatigue that I will accept without fear and hesitation, and I will strive to succeed in it so that I can celebrate my success again.

See you BFU! After spending my 4 years in BFU, finally on my graduation day, I consider myself fortunate and blessed, I' m sending my warmest greetings to the leaders of BFU, School of Economics and Management, BFU staff, ISC, and China Scholarship Council for funding to support my study, health, and life in China. I'd like to thank you for your concern and assistance over the years. I will never forget the values you instilled in me, particularly perseverance and honesty. Words cannot express my gratitude. Today, I am a more capable and accomplished individual, but I will never forget who stood by my side. To you, my gratitude, friends, families, and teachers all wish you the greatest happiness and success, I close this cycle with a luggage full of friendships and much knowledge to build a better future, I think I have never felt so happy as in this moment of realization, this graduation represents a lot of sweat, sleepless nights, and other sacrifices, and sacrifices of my parents and family, that's why I deeply thank all of you who believed in me and my abilities, I know that no one accomplishes without help, and I have no words to express how grateful I am to be forming today. It is without a doubt one of the best days of my life, and I am overjoyed to have another goal accomplished. Thank you very much, and congratulations to everyone who is leaving BFU today. BFU and my parents are reason for my success. Concerning my future plans, with competition becoming increasingly fierce, I would be wise to consider any opportunity with funds to complete my Master' s degree and find a better job. I am confident so after receiving my BFU degree, I will be able to improve my innovative, intellectual, effective, and communicational skills, allowing me to encapsulate materials. By applying academic knowledge in a practical situation, I will broaden my skills and abilities and explore new topics through an outlet.

I love China, BFU, School of Economics and Management and all those who stood with me during all this time. Live Long China.

I graduated from the school of technology with a major in electrical engineering & automation. It is one of an extraordinary exciting period in my life that's reflecting a lot of unforgettable memorable moments.

Graduation not only can bring up feelings of excitement, pride, and anticipation, but also start showing you the future that you are looking for. today is special day, this day is telling me how far I have come. And for me it is just one step from the glory and I will keep learning, I will keep trying, keep accomplishing, and keep on through my journey

I still remember the first day when I came to the school, I remember how the international teacher take me to my dorm, I still remember the first day I received the books and all the books were in Chinese language because my program was taught in Chinese language; at that time, I took it as a challenge and today right now you are reading my graduation feelings, so "NEVER EVER GIVE UP "

Finally, we all know the last two years were really hard because of pandemic situation for all the international students especially the ones who were inside the campus, I will never forget how we helped each other and how we created happiness from the fears.

The last thing I want to say is that from the core of my heart I want to say thank you to all my Chinese classmates, friends & teachers they all were so kind & nice to me, and I just wanna say thank you to all the BFU international college staff, teachers, and students.

I come to the point where I must say goodbye to all of you but all of u will remain special in my heart forever.
